INNOVATION

Bethel College 19

THE THRESHER 2019 | VOL. 93

Innovation can be defined as the introduction of change and transformation. Bethel has gone through various changes within the past few years. Whether the change was something small like a facility member or something as big as the mission statement being updated, innovation has been seen around the campus all year. As a Bethel Thresher, every student should thrive to become an innovator in their life. The 2019 graduates have spent four years learning the skills necessary to become the leaders and innovators of the future.

FALL TIMELINE

Ringing in the school year with Welcome Week and Thresher Days, the start of autumn creates a busy time for students. The next few months of the year are littered with activities to keep students occupied with balancing time between work, school, extracurriculars and fun. Service Day allows students to get hands on experience with one of the core values of Bethel. Later in the semester, Fall Fest and Halloween coincide with midterms. Finally to wrap up the hectic season, several students have the opportunity to vote for the first time ever.

Rilynn Anderson carries a container into the residence halls. Move in day called for hot weather like usual.

"I love Welcome Week because I get to return back to campus to see my friends. I have built strong friendships with my peers, and I can't wait to see what the year holds for us."

- Derrick Hudson

Clifford Byrd Jr. and his mother carry boxes into one of the residence halls. Many student have friends and family help move them into the dorms.

Contrary to the name, Welcome Week is a long process that starts with the student athletes moving in. Orientation Leaders and Community Assistants are essential to keep the week running smoothly. Welcome Week consists of two main parts: Thresher Days and the official Welcome Week. Thresher Days are meant to help new and transfer students feel welcome through a series of fun activities and lectures. Some of the lectures include how to work ThresherConnect and an introduction to Title IX. While Thresher Days is only for new students to Bethel, Welcome Week is a way for the whole school to meet and connect through fun activities. The Student Activities Council plans and set up the events and sends information out to the student body. Both Welcome Week and Thresher Days are a great way for students coming to Bethel after summer break to feel welcome and make new friends.

"I found welcome week to be a great way for me to get used to campus life. I also met a bunch of people from the various activities like the watermelon eating contest."

- AJ Dugan

"As an Orientation Leader I loved welcoming the incoming freshman and the transfer students to Bethel. It was such a fun and amazing week!"

- Merrick Schmitz

Service Day is an important part of Bethel's culture. Classes are cancelled during the day to allow students to participate in the event. This year's students participated in projects at the New Hope Shelter, Camp Mennoscah, Kidron-Bethel Village and Caring Hands Humane Society, and many others. Serena Wong said, "I enjoyed the aspect of taking a day off from school obligations and giving back to the community." Wong added, "I wish more opportunities like it were available." Service is one of Bethel's core values, and Service Day allows students to help clean up and improve the surrounding community.

"I think some of the biggest takeaways from Service Day is being able to work with people you may not usually hang out with around campus. If volunteering as a team, it creates a new environment, and it's nice to see your teammates outside of a practice environment."

Bethel College hosts a variety of international students from all over the world. The Wuppertal Exchange Program brings students from Germany to study here at Bethel and sends Bethel students to Wuppertal study there for a year. Bethel hosts three soccer players who are from Brazil, South Korea and Sweden. The college is also host to students from China as well. Bethel College is not only diversifying the student body, but it is also opening up new connections throughout the world.

Melih Kilic visits Colorado with Lauren Woodward following interterm. While there, the two visited the Rocky Mountains.
PC: Lauren Woodward

"My time at Bethel College offered me various opportunities to develop my language proficiency and become more efficient in speaking English. I like the idea of life as an American student versus that of a German student. I was able to try various foods are typical to Americans. My favorites are doughnuts and Mexican food. Feel free to send some doughnuts to Germany, I will happily send bread in return!"

Kendra Gooden jumps to spike the volleyball back onto the opponent's side of the court.

The Threshers consisted of a large amount of freshman, meaning the team could be considered young. This caused some challenges for the team because they had to quickly learn transitions. On the other hand, this allowed for more playing time for them as well. Some highlights from the season include the Threshers big win in three games against Oklahoma Wesleyan and the Fall Fest win against Sterling. Stacey Middleton, head coach, feels that the future is bright for the team and is optimistic about the return of the program's ways of winning.

"I think it went well for how young we were. The freshmen class really stepped up and filled some big shoes that were needed in order for us to be successful. I'm really proud of them and can't wait to see what they do in the upcoming seasons."

- Taylor Buessing

Cassie Voth stays strong through the race. Students, facility and family attended the home conference to cheer on the team.

Bethany Montoya keeps a strong lead on her opponents.

Heath Goerzen is all smiles as he gears up to pass his opponent from Tabor College.

Overall the team had a good season, even though it was small. The individuals' performances were extremely impressive. This year Bethel had the honor and excitement of hosting conference. The team did well and should be proud of their hard work and accomplishments.

"For having few runners on the team, we had an amazing time season. At the conference meet, we were able to beat Tabor. I can't wait to see what next season holds for us."

They really are an entirely new family that I am so grateful to have gotten to experience."

Bethel College has a long history with its host families. With 33% of the student body from out of state and 2% being international students, the need for host families is always prevalent. Bethel College prides itself in its amazing community, surroundings and being able to give out-of-state students that home away from home feeling. Host families can range from having one to five students and can be tailored to a student's specific needs here at Bethel. The matching process is done by the Student Life Office Coordinator Bethany Charlsen which consists of mutual interests, similarities in goals, religious preferences and a questionnaire that both the student and host fill out in order to successfully create the perfect match.

"Pat [Denno] is one of the sweetest ladies I know, and she was always very supportive of my volleyball career."

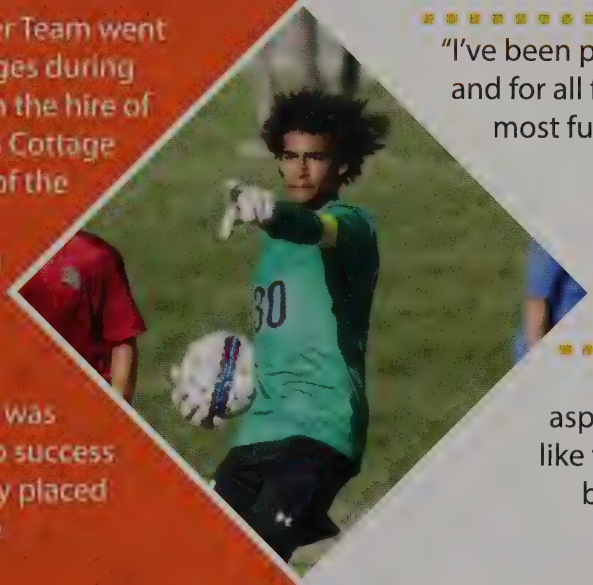
The women's soccer team finished the 2018 season 3-11-2 and 11th in the Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference (KCAC). The Thresher's season was highlighted by a 14-0 victory over Manhattan Christian on September 3 and a 2-1 overtime win against Saint Mary on September 19. Emma Sanstoe scored the game winning header against the Saint Mary Spires off of a corner kick by Bekah Tonn in the 105th minute. The Threshers capped off the season by winning the KCAC Team of Character for 2018.

Marcus Aragon plans his next move.

Jose Rojas fights for the ball.

The Bethel Men's Soccer Team went through several changes during the year. It began with the hire of the new head coach, James Cottage and includes the decrease of the numbers of players on the roster. The team went from having 24 to 11 and then down to 10, due to injury. With the help of new and returning players, the team was able to turn their losses into success and make a comeback. They placed 13th in conference with the record of 1-9-2.



"I've been playing soccer since I was five and for all four years at Bethel. I think the most fulfilling aspect has been seeing my improvement through these past years."

- Randall Schmidt

"I want to improve in every aspect of the sport, because I feel like there is always room for me to become a better soccer player."

Sam Haynes, Vice President for Student Life and Dean of Students, and Bethany Charleson, Student Life Office Coordinator, run the Host Family Program booth. The program is meant to connect students far from home with a local family that provides support and a comforting place away from campus for the student.

Fall Fest is an annual festival hosted by the Office of Alumni and Church Relations. The festival includes a week of activities with the event on Saturday. Throughout the Green and several other facilities students, faculty and community members hold booths for different organizations. The festival's goal is to create community and encourage alumni interactions with current students. Some other activities that take place during Fall Fest week include Homecoming, the musical and SAC events. Little Women was the musical that took place Friday-Sunday of Fall Fest. The musical is based on the book written by Lousia May Alcott in 1868. The plot takes the audience through the lives of the March sisters: Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy. Jo, the second eldest sister, wants to be a writer in a time where women were discouraged to do anything other than be a stay at home wife and mother.

"I was asked to help with the set because my characters were not incredibly active on stage and since I had free time, I figured I'd help out."

One hundred thirty years after Bethel was founded, Jon Gering became the college's 15th president. Bethel offers opportunities for students to expand their education through a variety of study abroad programs. Off-campus educational experiences, whether in another state or another country, enrich studies and enhance the understanding of the world. In the 2018-2019 academic year Stephanie Brown and Jacob Russell studied at the Bergische Universita in Wuppertal, Sophia Minder studied in University of Gloucestershire in Cheltenham, England with the Brethren Colleges Abroad program. Sarah Balzer and Madison Hofer-Holdeman studied in Mexico with Bethel's new partnership with UNICACH.

It was a season full of "first's" for Bethel's football team. A few of them include, new coaches and a new offense and defense. A brotherhood was created and through this the players learned to play for the person next to them rather then for the win. Once the time started to come together as one they become much stronger. The first win was huge for our guys they were able to realize how good they could be. That win definitely built momentum for the rest of the season. Our offense and defense hit a rhythm against a ranked team and put the team's confidence where it needed to be for the first time. The next couple years are going to be fun for the team.

"We could have won some close games that we had. I try to keep working and never give up."

- Gary Jolivet

VOTING

Courtesy Photos

Voting is a right of passage that every U.S. citizen gains once they turn of age. With both on-campus pressure from clubs like the Bethel College Young Democrats and off-campus pressure from social media, voting was highly encouraged this year. Facebook, Snapchat, Instagram and even Google encouraged those who used their services and had not already, to register to vote. The Bethel College Young Democrats set up times around campus to help guide students through the process of registering to vote in Kansas or even in their home state.

"Voting is an important issue. I think people don't vote because they feel like it doesn't impact them, but it is who decides our future laws and policies. I feel like it's my duty as a U.S. citizen to make an informed vote."

- Charlotte Ehrmann

Halloween is an extremely busy time of the year on campus. Students can participate in Trick-or-Treat Off the Street, dress up for class or attend the Halloween dance. Many students love the holiday, and some friend groups even dress up together. Activities like Trick-or-Treat Off the Street encourages faculty, staff, students and community members to participate in the holiday every year.

"My family never participated in Halloween growing up, so I never went trick-or-treating, but I would always help my neighbors with decorating their houses. I'd also help them hand out candy in costumes. If I was not helping my friends with Halloween, my family bought candy and watched movies late into the night."

WINTER TIMELINE

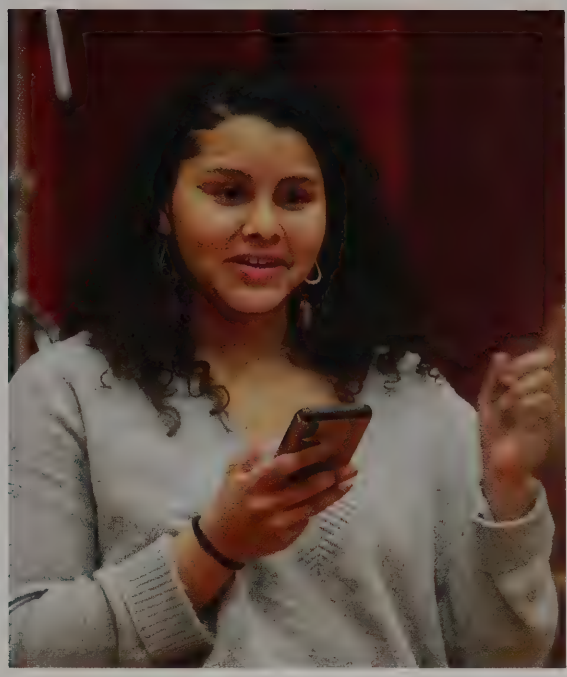
With the dropping temperatures comes the cooling down of events on campus. Since winter is the shortest season of the school year, it can seem uneventful. However with men and women's basketball keeping a good chunk of students preoccupied, many felt busier than ever. Some other fun annual winter events include the Lighting of the Green and Gala. Finally, after a few weeks of break, students came back to enjoy their shortest classes of year over Interterm.

Donte Powell and Bruce Rosario banter back and forth during the event.



Co-President of Diversity Council, Akiyaa Hagen-Depusoir helps direct the activities during the Open Mic for MLK Day.

A group of students sits around a table conversing about the event while eating sloppy joes.

MLK Day is an event that is held to honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the event students are able to show off a few of their skills. This includes visual, verbal and written art. MLK Day is a wonderful opportunity to show the diversity at Bethel. The Diversity Council hosts an open mic in honor of the day.

"The event was great and let many people here on campus show off their talents as well. So many awesome paintings, poems and illustrations were shown. I hope the event continues throughout the years."

The Threshers had notable achievements throughout the season. The teams most notable achievement was having .500 season and finishing 15-15. The threshers also managed a win over a nationally ranked opponent, Friends University (22). Conference awards were in place for three individuals on the team as well. Jaylon Scott picked up KCAC Freshman Of the Year, All KCAC Third Team, as well as All KCAC Defensive Team. Dakota Foster picked up an All KCAC Honorable Mention. Lastly, Kiesan Weiher picked up all KCAC Freshman team honors.

"Beating York College on ESPN3 and beating Friends who were ranked nationally are two things I will always remember from this season as well as beating Tabor at their home court."

- Jaylon Scott

The Lady Threshers had the most historic season the program has witnessed. The threshers set a new record for the most wins in program history with a finish of 20-10. Many individual records were set this year as Abby Schmidt broke her own single season rebound record while picking up the KCAC Defensive POY award. Kendall Michalski broke the Lady Thresher's single game three point record.

"The season that we had would best be described as historic in my opinion. I say historic because so much history was made. We started off the season 8-0, which is the best start in program history and we ended 20-10 which was the most wins in program history"

- Jade Brown

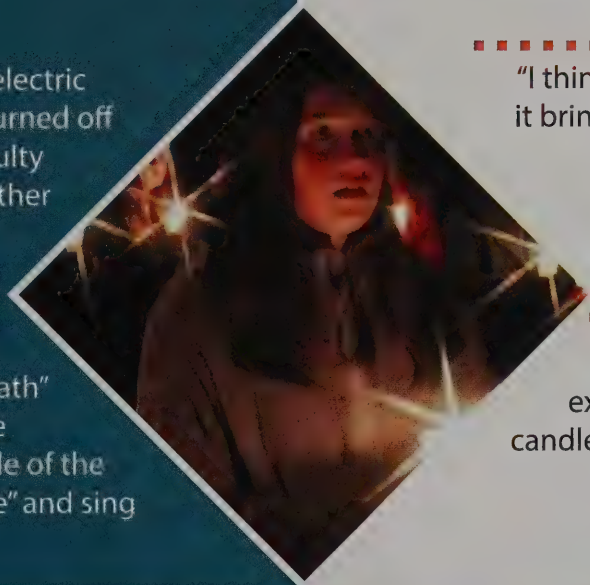
Athletic training is widely known on campus. From helping athletes mend their physical setbacks to pro actively preventing injuries for Bethel student athletes, athletic training has proven to be instrumental in the welfare of all students. With their enthusiasm on and off the field, their determination to better the athletic health of all Bethel sports teams and the sheer resolution to never back down in the face of adversity the program has created a legacy. Without their hard work and dedication all Bethel student athletes, coaches and opponents would be hurting on and off the field.

"I choose athletic training because I wanted to stay involved in sports after I was done playing basketball. I enjoy working with a variety of sports because it keeps things interesting. The athletic training program has given me the opportunity to have a hands on experience both on and off the field."

- Caitie Williams

New and returning students, alumni, facility and other community members hold candles together to memorialize this important event.

During the event, most electric lights on campus are turned off and students, staff, faculty and community members gather around unlit candles on the sidewalks. It takes about 250 people to form a complete circle around the Green. The candles are lit to make a "wreath" of light, followed by everyone coming together in the middle of the Green to form a "Christ candle" and sing carols.



"I think this is significant because it brings hundreds of people in the community together to participate in a service."

- Jayce Yoder

"This is a fun way to experience Christmas. We light candles on a very dark campus and sing Christmas hymns."

Elizabeth Friesen Birky, Emma Girton and Avery Myatt get dressed up for gala dinner.

Gala is an annual formal event, that consists of more than just the dinner many see it for. It gives students the chance to dress up and eat dinner with their friends. The Caf employees work hard to provide a full menu with a salad to start as an appetizer, two entree choices and finally several delicious homemade desserts with the option of coffee to finish off the night. The event provides students with the opportunity to take formal pictures and enjoy themselves in general. Pictures start at 5 p.m. and the dinner takes place at 6 p.m. Immediately following the dinner, is a reception at the President Jon Gering's house for cookies and hot cocoa. The event is an important annual tradition that the Office of Student Life puts together to help create the fun environment that Bethel maintains for its students.

"Gala gives students a chance to dress up, have a nice dinner and spend time with friends. The cheesecake was amazing and I would recommend for you to attend next year."

Over interterm several fun and life-changing classes or trips took place either on campus or maybe even in another country. The senior nursing students took a trip to Haiti and were lucky enough to experience working in hospitals to provide care. Many locals were very grateful for their help and welcomed the group with open arms. Very little access to recourses, especially for healthcare, are available in Haiti, so any help the nursing students could bring was extremely beneficial for both parties. Some students took the class Prison Theater Project and spent the month in and out of the Hutchinson Correctional Facility working with medium security inmates. The students had the difficulty of putting on two performances in that short period of time and working with an underprivileged population. Others took a book art course. In this course, students designed books, and put them on display in the art gallery following the end of the class.

"The biggest challenge with providing health care in Haiti was the language barrier and the utilization of limited resources."

- Alexis Wilson

FemCore

Photos by Rebecca Schrag

FemCore is feminist collective that brings awareness to gender and social issues on a campus, state, national and global scale. FemCore also stands as an advocacy group as well as a safe-space. Unite for Gender and Reproductive Equity (URGE) led a conference in Wichita for LGBTQ and reproductive rights education that students had the opportunity to attend. There, Rebecca Schrag and students studied advocacy techniques, looked at state and national policies that denied rights to marginalized groups, and brainstormed with other college students effective ways to lead educational events at our own campuses. The group also sustained the implementation of sexual violence prevention education, working with Bethany Charlsen of the Title IX office.

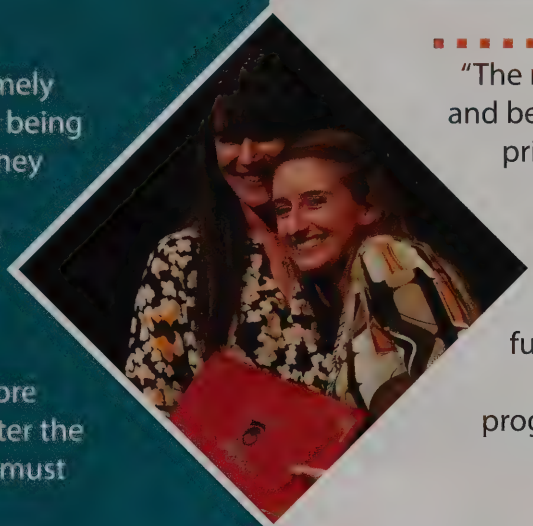
Alix Gallop gets ready for the annual performance nursing students put on every year.

The nursing program has a reputation for being extremely selective and difficult. That being said, many students would say they have benefited from choosing Bethel's program. Students have to work hard in class and clinical settings to gain the skills necessary to get a job after graduation. Nursing school is more than just a Bachelor's degree. After the pinning ceremony students still must take and pass the NCLEX.



"The nursing program goes above and beyond expectations. Professors pride themselves on delivering a high quality education while pushing their students to achieve excellence in and out of the classroom. I'm thankful for all the nursing professors and their role in my life. This program is extraordinarily special."

SPRING TIMELINE

The final semester brings with it warmer weather and exciting events to close out the year. Spring brings the play and many other sports to keep students busy until finals week. To close out the year with a bang, Spring Fling and the Awards ceremony in Convocation allow students to see the creativity and accomplishments of their peers. Finally, most students pack up to leave, but the graduating seniors walk the stage at commencement and get ready to start the next chapter in their lives.

This year the Bethel College Theater Department featured This Random World: The Myth Of Serendipity as their spring play, a comedic and somber piece of missed connections. The play was Damon Klassen's directing debut at Bethel College and asks the question of how often we travel parallel paths through the world without noticing. From an ailing woman who plans one final trip, to her daughter planning a great escape to her son falling prey to a prank gone wrong. This funny, intimate and heartbreaking play explores the lives that are happening just out of reach of our own.

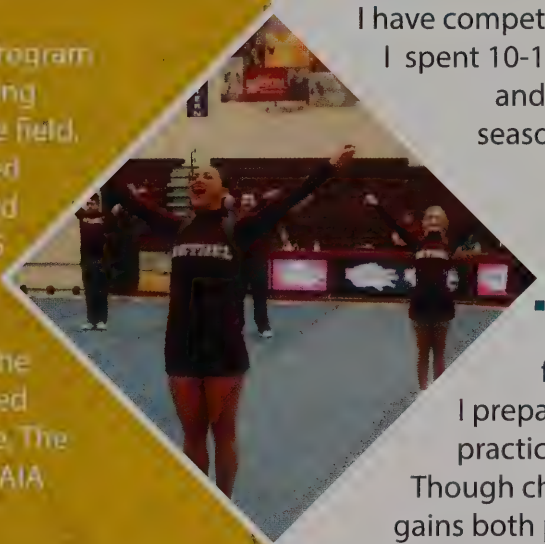
The Bethel golf team finished in sixth place in the KCAC championships, showing overall improvement this year. Connor Mickens recapped his season, stating, "All together, I enjoyed my last season with the team... I was happy with my fall season for the most part. I didn't finish things the way I wanted, but as a whole I was proud" Mickens placed third at the Ottawa Invitational in the Fall and fifth at the SCU Collegiate Golf Tournament in Winfield. He also won the team's Champion of Character award this season. Mickens noted that his favorite thing about golf is that "even though it is a team sport, you dictate your performance at an individual level." Fellow Senior Chase Sparks improved in his final season as a Thresher, posting some of the best rounds of his career. When asked about his favorite memory from this season, Sparks said, "Definitely watching Parker throw his putter after missing a short put at Carey Park in Hutchinson." Despite this, Parker Austin did shoot 70 on the day, good for a Bethel course record.

Bethel College Cheer puts on a performance in Thresher Gym.

The Bethel College Cheer Program did well this year in showing school spirit on and off the field. They brought the energy needed by cheerleaders to get the crowd pumping. They participated in 5 competitions and placed top 5 in each. They placed 2nd in both the OCU Invitational and the KCAC Championship. They placed 3rd in the Sterling College Invite, The Thresher Invitational, and the NAIA Regional Qualifier.



I have competed two seasons with Bethel. I spent 10-15 hours a week for game days and more time when competition season started. I see improvements in my own confidence on and off the mats this year.

Spring Fling is an annual event organized and put on by the Student Activities Council (SAC) in May and helps students relax one last time before finals. The week was kicked off this year by the End of the Year Extravaganza run by the Diversity Council. On Tuesday, local restaurant, Kiko's catered a movie night in the projection room. Wednesday, SAC members handed out coffee and breakfast burritos catered by Mojo's Coffee Bar. Later that night, Jazz on the Green was moved to Kriebhel auditorium due to rain. The annual faculty/staff vs. student softball on Thursday was changed to dodgeball because of the weather as well. On Friday, Salted Creamery, a local ice cream stand, handed out various flavors in front of the Administration Building. Finally, on Saturday the Bubbert's Awards ceremony took place in the Luyken Fine Arts Center.

The Bethel College Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Adam V. Fontana, had another exciting year of performances. This included joint concerts with the Bethel College Honor Band, the Bethel College Philharmonia and Eisenhower High School. The Wind Ensemble was able to share their talents and grow through each performance. The Wind Ensemble found unique ways to bring music to life this year. Whether it was a "birthday party" concert, celebrating Leonard Bernstein's 100th birthday through music and cake, or inviting the audience to sit within the ensemble for a piece. Dr. Fontana and the Bethel College Wind Ensemble created yet another year of memorable performances.

"This is my third year in wind ensemble and it has been one of my favorites. I play the french horn, and we had a lot of pieces that highlighted our section this year, which was fun."

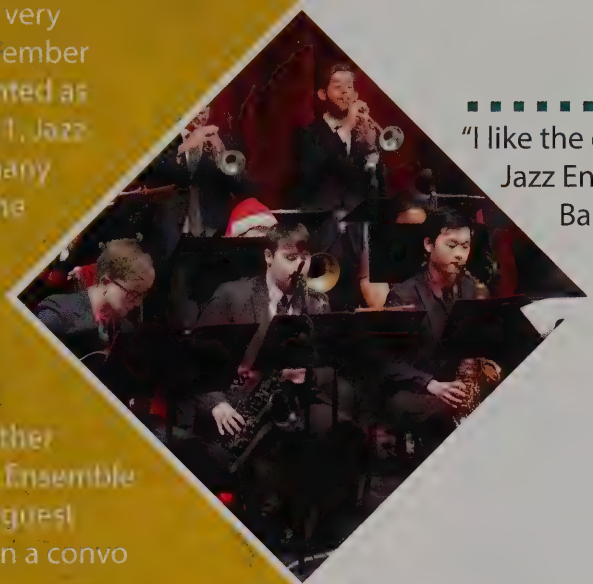
Matthew Lind preforms a solo on the saxophone during the Gala Jazz concert.

Jazz Ensemble 1 & 2 had a very notable years as faculty member Joel Boetteger was appointed as the Director of Jazz Ensemble 1. Jazz Ensemble has performed at many notable local events such as the Taste of Newton, Christmas Gala, as well as Jazz on the Green. Jazz Ensemble 2 had an outstanding year as well. This group made the jump to playing more combo music rather than the traditional style. Jazz Ensemble was honored to perform with guest artist/composer Clay Jenkins in a convo earlier this year.



"I like the diverse styles of music that Jazz Ensemble plays; Swing, Bebop, Ballads, Rock Latin music. I also appreciate that everyone is on their own part, so your line is just as important as everyone else's. Jazz is exciting music to play"

With the addition of new coach William Riley, the men's tennis team continued the program's rich success they are known for. The Threshers poured out a 6-8 overall record and a 5-4 record in conference play. The Threshers success on the court earned them a fifth seed in the KCAC Championships. The men's team made it to the quarterfinals of the KCAC Championships and ended their season with a loss to Ottawa. Two threshers picked up postseason accolade for the 2018-2019 season. Senior Gabe Johnshon received the KCAC Sportsmanship Award and freshman Nolan Schrader collected an ALL-KCAC Honorable Mention in his first collegiate season.

"We made a big jump this year and settled ourselves in the top half of the conference. The momentum we used this year will carry into the program for years to come".

Visual arts at Bethel College has changed immensely within the past year. With the largest class of graduating seniors that the program has ever seen, several students reached out to help incite permanent changes to the campus. Jordan Hill, along with advisor Donalyn Manion, art directed Beyond Studio. Beyond is the graphic design studio on campus that has completed over 250 jobs since opening in 2017 for Bethel and the community. In the spring, Jesus Alba petitioned to insure that one selected senior each year would be able to create a mural to encapsulate the activities on campus.

"The process to get the mural done took lots of hard work and dedication. Painting was fun while standing 30+ feet off the ground. Creating the piece was an experience I will never forget...Fly High Q."

The five Thresher Award recipients proudly displaying their trophies.

Bethel traditionally uses the final two Convocations of the Spring Semester to recognize students for their achievements throughout the year. Dozens of athletes were recognized by the KCAC and NAIA for their work on and off the field this year. This year, Bethel honored five students with the Thresher Award for the completion of an extraordinary project or other noteworthy achievement. The recipients were Neil Smucker, Elizabeth Ratzlaff, Alec Loganbill, Austin Prouty and Cassie Voth. Bethel clearly had no shortage of excellent work done by students this year, both academically and athletically.

Concert Choir represents Bethel College through various concerts. These include campus performances, local venues and an annual multi-state tour. The students also perform internationally in countries such as Canada, Germany and France. Members of the choir represent all walks of life on campus, from athletes to actors and more. With concert choir's membership count so high, it can be seen as the core of the music department. This year for their spring tour the students had the wonderful opportunity to travel to the southwest. This greatly differed from last year's trip that included stops such as Canada and Europe. Overall, concert choir gives students many opportunities to travel the world and experience new cultures alongside friends.

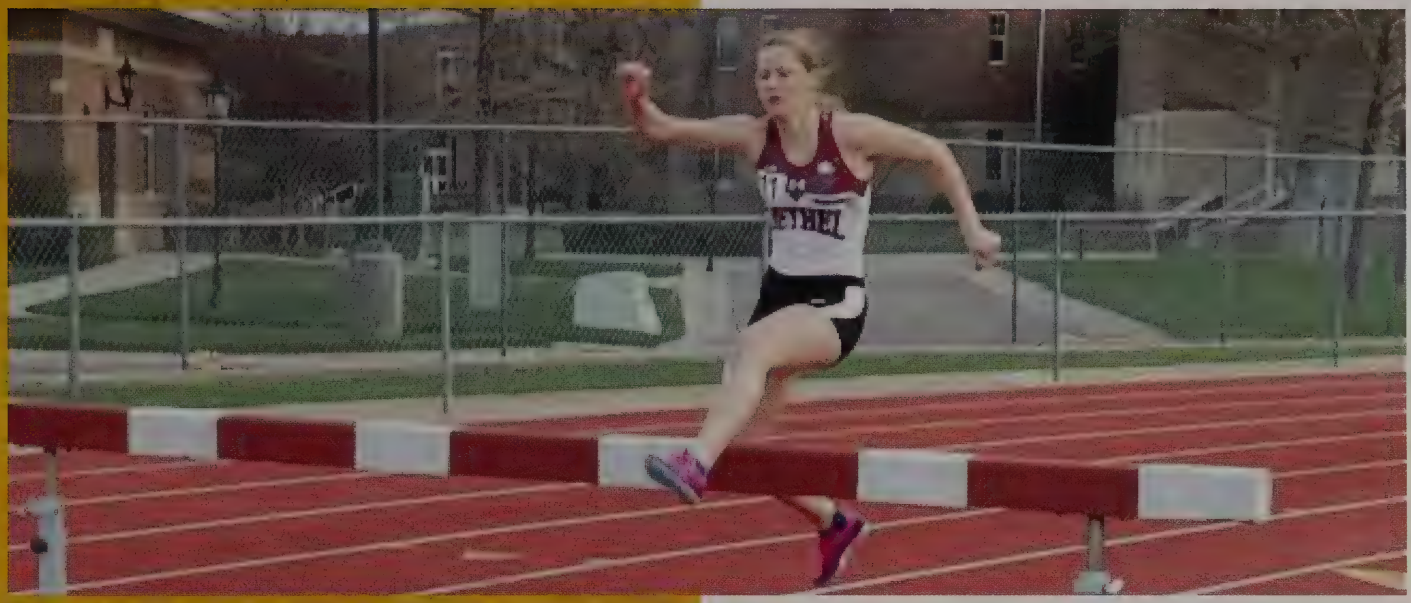
Madison Mcdowell finishes the first complete game shutout since 2016.

Michelle Schrag starts the inning of with a single up the middle.

"This season taught me a lot about determination and perseverance. Each day gave me the chance to get better and learn something new. I am proud of how this team is evolving."

- Emalee Overbay



Natalie Graber ran the 3000 meter steeplechase.

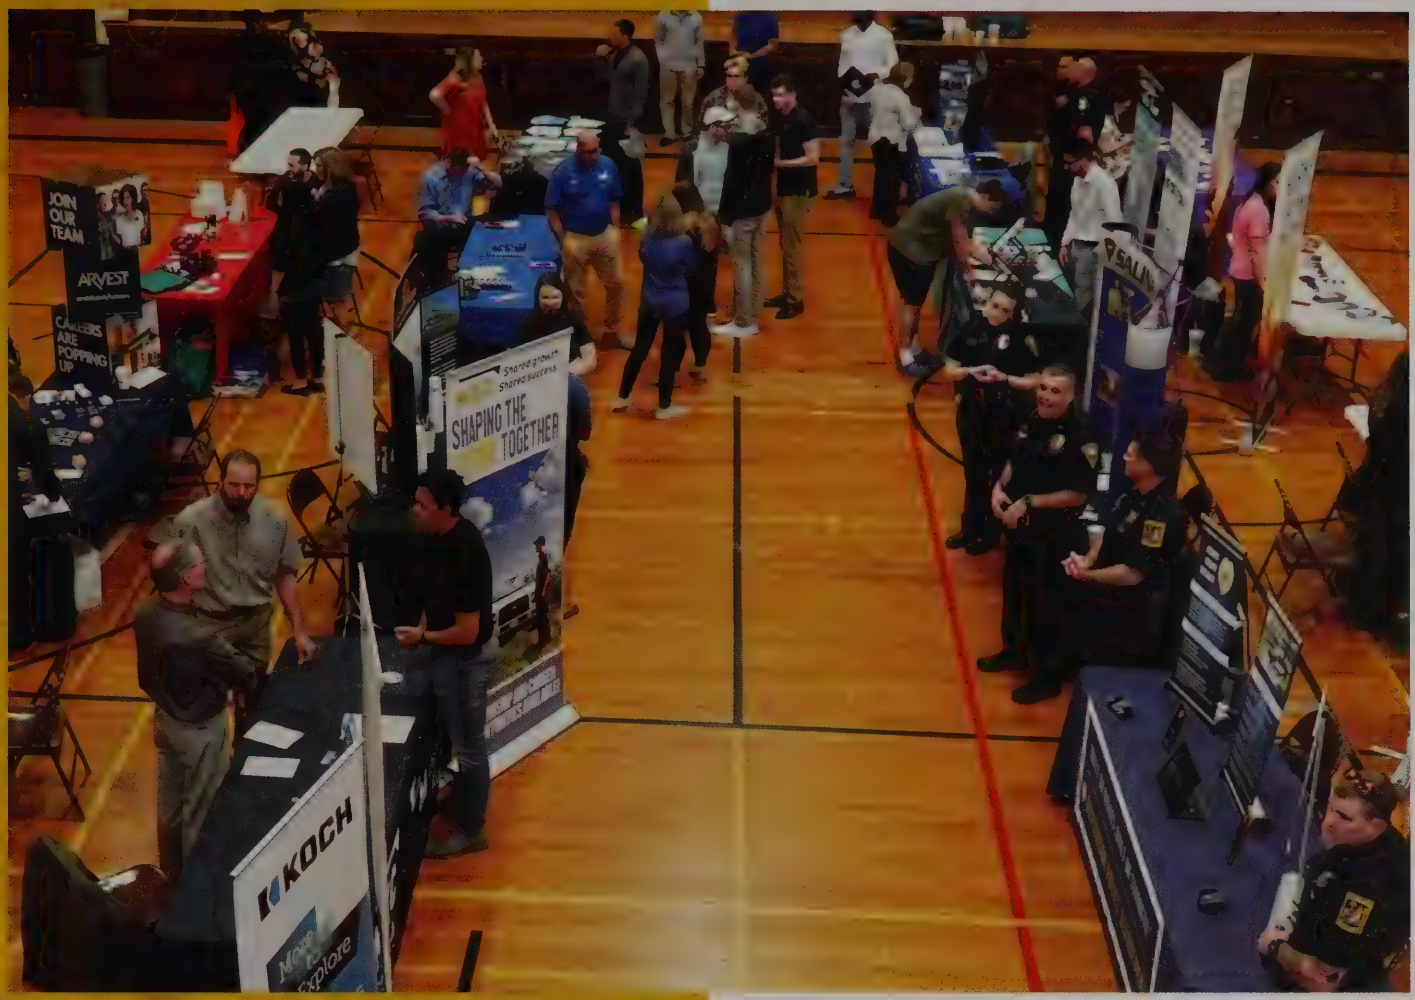
Lil Padro explains her poster to staff member Doug Siemens.

Candy Dao finishes up her presentation.

STEM Learning Community researches ethical issues and the history of science that arise. Every week students meet and discuss the issues surrounding the community. This also gives them time to meet with their research group to discuss their project for the URICA symposium. Seniors also present another research topic to the class independently. The class helps teach how to do research and get prepared for internships. Collaborative, peer-led learning, research and presentation experience are some aspects discussed during this course. This class is required for all consisting three to five students to learn how to work together and bring different ideas through research.

"As I wrap up my junior year and anticipate beginning my senior seminar project, I feel fully prepared and capable. Additionally, being part of this seminar means receiving updates and notifications about various opportunities in my area of interest.

- Naomi Epp



On April 16, Bethel hosted a career fair in Memorial Hall. The event was put on by the office of Career Services and brought in many local businesses. Thrivent Financial, Koch Industries and Mid-Kansas Co-op were among the companies in attendance. Grant Bellar was one of many students to participate. He noted, "The Career Fair gave me experience interacting with possible future employers and was good practice for selling myself on the spot." The event is for all students, as several companies were looking to fill summer intern positions. Every student should take advantage of getting a jump on their future with the career fair.

"I'm glad that Bethel had this event. Being a Business major, I thought it was a great opportunity to network."

- Grant Bellar

"The Career Fair was a great experience for me and there was a good variety of businesses to talk to."

GRADUATION

Photos by Vada Snider

Graduation is a special event that comes once a year for Bethel College. While several students can graduate early in the fall or winter, the only time for students to walk is in the spring wrapping up each academic year. The day starts off at 10 a.m. with a Baccalaureate Ceremony at Bethel College Mennonite Church. Following the service graduates, family members and guests are invited to one final lunch in The Caf. The students then meet for a class photo at in front of the steps of the Administration Building. The actual Commencement Ceremony started at 4 p.m. in Thresher Stadium. This year's guest speaker was Dwight Krehbiel, head professor of psychology, who retired after 41 years of teaching at Bethel. Before teaching here, he came to Bethel in 1965. His speech was titled "Why a Bethel Education? Careers, Professions and Vocations."
